

GRAFFEG children's RIGHTS CATALOGUE 2023

GRAFFEG RIGHTS CATALOGUE

Graffeg is an independent publisher based in Wales creating high-quality original children's titles by some amazing authors and illustrators, such as Nicola Davies and Abbie Cameron, Zeb Soanes and James Mayhew, Dom Conlon and Anastasia Izlesou, Andrew Whitson and Malachy Doyle, Joyce Dunbar and James Mayhew, Max Low, Mark Llewelyn Evans and Karl Davies, Karin Celestine, Roy Noble and Karl Davies, Julia Rawlinson and Tiphonie Beeke, Jon Roberts and Hannah Rounding and many other talented and imaginative authors and illustrators.

2023 sees new additions to some of your favourite children's book series from Graffeg, along with a few fantastic new titles.

The seventh title in the Animal Surprises series by Nicola Davies and Abbie Cameron looks at some of the reptiles found across the world in easy-to-read rhyming prose.

A new series by Marielle Bayliss and Mariela Malova tells the story of Frog, who is struggling to find a perfect place to relax but his friends the bees know a way they can help.

The adventures of Albert the Tortoise from Ian Brown and Eoin Clarke see the real-life mini-dinosaur living life on the veg for a fifth and sixth picture books, Albert and the Pond and Albert and the Shed. Ian and Eoin also continue the adventures of Hugg 'n' Bugg, where the messy yeti seemingly abandons his new friend when he finds a comb on a journey down the mountain.

A new format and a new story by Julie Rudi and Tiphonie Beeke see Graffeg enter the world of board books. That's How Much I Love You is a brilliant rhyming story about parental love, perfect for ages 0-3. Graffeg also introduces a number of it's favourite picture book characters to this new format, including Albert the Tortoise and Fletcher.

A Zoo in my Shoe combines a second humorous rhyming text exploring the power of language by BBC broadcaster Jason Korsner and giggle-inducing illustrations by Max Low.

With previous title Leap, Hare, Leap! having been nominated for the CILIP Kate Greenaway and Carnegie medal, the Wild Wanderers series continues with its sixth title, Fly, Butterfly, Fly! which inspires wonder and engagement with the natural world through Dom Conlon's lyrical text and Anastasia Izlesou's enchanting illustrations.

Finally, Jon Roberts and Hannah Rounding return with a new picture book exploring autism and the role of assistance dogs in The Torch, a coastal adventure story featuring Lily and her assistance dog, Myles.

Goodbye Hobbs author Emma Bettridge's second picture book, Red is Home, looks at the emotions associated with moving home, illustrated by Josephine Birch.

Debut picture book author Isla McGuckin teams up with experienced illustrator Catalina Echeverri for April's Garden, a gentle story about a family living in temporary accommodation and how April uses gardening as a way to control her complicated feelings about the situation.

We also have new additions to our Mouse and Moles series, as well as new activity and colouring books.

Peter Gill, Managing Director.

I am an Artist

What is an artist? Sometimes John finds art easy, sometimes it's hard, sometimes art is like a game, but sometimes it's a puzzle. This book takes us through the many ups and downs of John's life as an artist whilst also showing the fun that can be had with many different artforms, including drawing, sculpture, painting, photography and many more.

Being an artist is about being brave, frustrated and disappointed. But it's also about being creative, imaginative, excited and fulfilled - which makes it a wonderful thing for all children to say with confidence ... 'I am an ARTIST!' Originally published in Estonian, this book has been expertly translated by Adam Cullen.

The Invention

Caretaker's daughter Fili is sad to see her city neighbours hustle in and out, too busy to talk. But will feeling sad help – or is a bit more imagination needed? Fili gets to work creating a mysterious something that just might build little bridges between them all.

Author Julia Hubery
Illustrator James Munro
Format Paperback
Size 250 x 250mm
Pages 36
Age 4+
ISBN 9781802580907, £7.99
Publication 21 July 2022

Longlisted for the Derby
 Children's Picture Book Award
 2023

About the author:

Julia Hubery was born in Stamford and trained as an architect. She loves the countryside and nature, finding it a pool of inspiration to draw on in her writing. Julia now lives in Gosport with her husband and three children and hopes one day to get back to doing pottery – once her children have all grown up! She has published 16 picture books, translated into many languages, including When Granny Saved Christmas, A Little Fairly Magic and That's What Friends are For – all with Little Tiger Press.

About the illustrator:

James Munro has been drawing since he could grasp a pencil, and since then has covered everything in his path with his doodles. He lives and works in a pile of paper, pencil shavings and spilled ink in Liverpool, and is happiest having a cwtch on a North Wales beach.

Key themes:

- Community
- Imagination
- Creative thinking
- Social interaction

Selling Points:

- A brilliant story of community and bringing people together with a delightful twist at the end
- New picture book by well-known author Julia Hubery
- A brilliant tool to introduce the concept of patience
- Includes an important message that everyone can make a difference, no matter how small

‘Beautiful, heart-warming and wonderfully illustrated. I am in love with Albert!’

Julian Clary, comedian and writer and author of The Bolds series

Paul Whitehouse, Gone Fishing, The Fast Show

‘Funny, inventive and stunningly illustrated, this topsy-turvy tale is a delight. I was rooting for Albert from page one.’

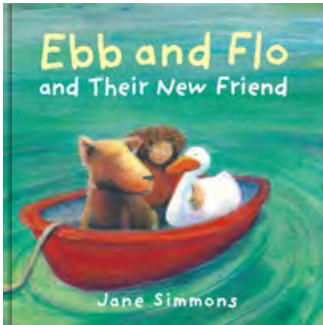

Philip Ardagh, author, winner Roald Dahl Funny Prize

‘It’s fresh and fun and I love the way Max plays with shape and line and limits his palette to shades of the same colours. [...] reading these books with young children will support their understanding of directions (Treasure Map), time (No Time for Clocks), counting, sharing and design. The emphasis, though, is most definitely on fun. [...] Playful, engaging and full of humour, the Ceri and Deri books are fabulous picture books made for sharing. Max Low is an extremely talented illustrator and we can’t wait to see what comes next.’

'Every word is carefully chosen and expertly crafted into the most humane and heartfelt poetry, enriched and enhanced by abstract illustrations which show how art, in its widest sense, can affect positive change, building bridges and bonds between each of us.' Jake Hope, Chair of Youth Libraries Group

Choose Love is a cycle of poems that highlights the experience of those forced to become refugees. The core of the collection was written in 2018 as part of a project with the charity Refugee Trauma Initiative. With the permission of both individual refugees and aid workers, RTI shared with Nicola a number of true and poignant stories which were then used as the basis for shortform poems. Over the following years Nicola has added to this core of poems to create a coherent collection on the theme of forced migration, its wider causes and consequences.

About the author:

Nicola Davies is the author of more than 80 books including picture books, non-fiction, fiction and poetry for children and adults. She has written widely on many subjects including environmental science, children's rights, disability, grief and refugees. Recently two of her titles The Day War Came and The King of the Sky were endorsed by Amnesty UK.

About the illustrator:

Petr Horáček is an award winning illustrator and author of books for children. His books include The Best Place in the World, Puffin Peter, Blue Penguin, The Greedy Goat, Silly Suzy Goose and A New House for Mouse. Petr illustrated Nicola Davies's book A First Book of Animals published by Walker Books, which was shortlisted for The Kate Greenaway Medal and in 2017 was awarded Schools Library Association Information Book Award.

Key themes:

- Poetry
- Experience of those forced to become refugees

Selling Points:

- Highly Commended CLiPPA 2023 (Centre for Literacy in Primary Poetry Award 2023)
- Shortlisted for the SLA Information Book Award 2023 in the age 13-16 category
- A moving poetry cycle written by award-winning author Nicola Davies
- Incredible illustrations by award-winning illustrator Petr Horáček, who was himself a refugee
- Support from national charity, Choose Love, who will receive a donation from each copy sold
- Foreword written by Onjali Rauf

Sample text:

*Before we left
 For months we listened, huddled in the dark:
 to Mother's words, like hail battering the roof
 "It is too dangerous
 It is too far
 It is too expensive It is too cold
 It is too lonely";
 to Father's silence.*

Explore the wacky world of Jason Korsner and Max Low’s zoo in this hilarious, rhyming picture book.

A Zoo in my Shoe presents young readers with a series of sensible sentences based on some of their favourite animals. These are then mixed up to make nonsense rhymes, sending children into fits of giggles.

About the author:

Jason Korsner is a broadcast journalist with the BBC, as well as a film reviewer and film-maker. What Can You See? and I Like to Put Food in My Welly were his first picture books. He is based in London.

About the illustrator:

Max Low is a graduate of Hereford College of Arts and was selected by bestselling children’s author Nicola Davies to illustrate Bee Boy and the Moonflowers, the penultimate tale in Graffeg’s Shadows and Light series. Max is the author and illustrator of the Ceri & Deri series of educational children’s picture books, also published by Graffeg. Max was selected as ‘one to watch’ by The Bookseller. Max is based in Abergavenny.

Key themes:

- Rhyme
- Language
- Humour

Selling Points:

- The imaginative and playful rhymes of A Zoo in my Shoe experiment with language to comic effect, conjuring up a sequence of images that will have children in stitches.
- A laugh-out-loud picture book with plenty of surprises.
- Giggle-inducing images from illustrator Max Low.
- A second humorous rhyming book exploring the power of language by Jason Korsner.
- Takes children on a tour around a zoo visiting many of their favourite wild animals including tigers, giraffes, penguins, elephants, pandas and many more.

‘Engaging rhymes and art: just right for putting across the ‘language is fun’ message to pre-schoolers.’

Jill Bennett, Red Reading Hub

‘Children will adore this brilliantly surreal book of poems, which get sillier for the longer you read them.’ BookTrust

What Can You See?

A gentle rhyming text encouraging young children to look at the world and relish in the objects around them, from everyday items found in the home to more far-off places like the jungle and sky. Reminiscent of the classic Alberg picture book Peepo, young children will love pointing out all the things mentioned in the text in Hannah Rounding's detailed illustrations.
