Phases of the Moon

A tie-back, glow-in-the-dark board book.

By Hajera Memon and illustrated by Rose Hill

Description

Children will enjoy learning about the phases of the moon with this sparkly, interactive, tie-back book which features a surprise glow-in-the-dark ending! The phases of the moon have been referred to, by God, in the Qur'an, as signs for mankind to reflect upon.

Each phase marks the passing of time and helps determine special days, such as the beginning of Ramadan, the festivals of Eid and the Hajj pilgrimage.

This original book, which includes beautiful Qur'anic verses and the prayer said upon sighting the new moon, is a unique and fun introduction to the Islamic lunar cycle.

And once the young readers have finished marveling at the shiny patterns, sparkles and surprise glow-in-the dark ending, the book can be tied back to make a stunning free-standing display for the home, classroom or library!

Read the book, marvel at the sparkles and glow-in-the dark ending, then tie it back to make a stunning free-standing display for your home, classroom or library!

BLACKOUT!

BY: SUMAYYAH HUSSEIN

Yusuf's cousin Ahmed is a Syrian refugee. After the death of Ahmed's father, Yusuf's parents work hard to bring Ahmed and his mom to Canada. When the paperwork finally goes through and they're on their way to Toronto, Yusuf is excited! He spends hours making sure everything is perfect for Ahmed's arrival and plans to teach him all about life in Canada. But when an ice storm hits during Ahmed's first night and cuts off power for three whole days, Yusuf realizes that he's the one with so much to learn.

A portion of profits from this book go to the Syrian Canadian Foundation's mental health and wellness programs for Syrian newcomers to Canada.

The Arabic Alphabet for Kids

£7.99

Muslim parents often wonder when is the best time to start their children's tajweed journey. Why not teach them from the very beginning so they don't have to correct their mistakes later on in life. Here to help you we have lovingly designed an engaging and fun Arabic Alphabet book to help children master the alphabet with the right articulation point (makharrij).

In this Arabic Alphabet for kids you will find:

- One alphabet covered on each page to help them identify the letter with a colouring activity
- A spot and colour activity to help with familiarisation of the letter
- The letter forms shown to help your child understand the letter comes in different forms
- A colouring page for the articulation point to help them pronounce the letter correctly
- A tracing page to help them visually memorise the letter

The words found in the workbook are examples from the Quran allowing your children familiarise themselves with words from the Quran.

The Arabic Short Vowels

Many parents are concerned about their child's Quran reading journey? Every time their child sit down with their Qaida they don't feel engaged and want to play. Or their progress been slow as they get bored just reading.

When I first started to teach my family how to read Arabic we struggled to find hands-on and fun resources with ta-jweed. I had a light bulb moment and decided to create my own resources which I love sharing with you. These resources have been great to bring some fun to our learning. And I hope the book will do the same for other families too!

In this book you will find:

- Introduction to the short vowels fatha, kasra and dhamma
- Letter and vowel recognition exercises
- Word match exercises helping your little one to recognise different letter forms
- Word search for a bit of fun
- And tracing pages to help them familiarise themselves with the letters

My Quran Journal allows you to record these moments and connect more deeply with the Quran. It is a system of penning your reflections, appreciation and gratitude. Many of us tend to recite the Quran regularly but how often do we find the time to just truly slow down and reflect upon the words of Allah and what He is telling us? We undertook a Quran Journal survey in the early months of 2022.

365 Tips To Help You Memorise The Qur'an

£12.99

The purpose of this book is to provide daily inspiration and guidance for anyone who wishes to teach the Qur'an. This book aims to centralise the teaching tips into one concise book and aims to be the ultimate Qur'an teaching handbook for anyone who wishes to teach the Qur'an. In this book, each daily tip is explained further; which gives the reader a more detailed guidance of how to practically implement each teaching tip into real life. We have also included 52 inspiring teaching quotes of the week, to help motivate the reader further!

"The comprehensive and wide-ranging content of this work is remarkably packaged and presented to the reader in a pragmatic manner, making it an indispensable resource for those who wish to teach the Qur'an."

WEEK TWENTY EIGHT

TIP 190:
"A very useful tool for hifdh revision is to regularly record the recital of your lesson and to review the recitation thereafter by playing back the recording. This is highly recommended and is particularly significant when revising individually in private."

TIP 191:
"Having a 'revision buddy' is a very helpful method for effective revision. Select a well-versed Qur'an reciter and someone you can trust. Plan regular revision sessions where you can both test each other and provide constructive feedback."

TIP 192:
"Do not overcommit yourself and burn out when it comes to hifdh revision. Plan a comfortable revision schedule that works for you, based on your daily routine."

TIP 193:
"The golden rule for revision is 'practice makes perfect.' Essentially, the more consistent you are in your revision, the more consistent you will be in progressing further with your hifdh journey."

TIP 194:
"Revision requires a lot of focus, discipline and commitment. Set aside your social life momentarily whilst you focus on your hifdh revision. Prioritise. Choose what is the most important and stick to it!"

TIP 195:
"Effective revision allows you to focus on your weaknesses and to turn them into strengths. If this can be achieved, then the revision has been successful."

TIP 196:
"One of the common mistakes hifdh students make is neglecting the long term revision. For example, if you have memorised 20 juz, make a regular routine to revise the first 3 juz and do not neglect them fully whilst focusing just on the short term revision!"
